-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --
Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it refers to the purported merits of the invention. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1, 3, 6-8 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fershtut (U.S. Patent 6,068,425).

Fershtut discloses mixing lime and liquid into a viscous sludge (not labeled) and cutting a plurality of holes (30, for example) in a settled slab. The sludge is pumped under the slab through the holes (Figure 9, for example) such that the leveling of the slab is controlled by the pumping of the sludge. The holes are repaired.

Note that the recitations directed specifically toward sand and air are met because the sludge of Fershtut includes both sand and air.

Regarding claim 8, note that, given voids along the sides of the slab, the step would inherently be met by the process of Fershtut.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2, 4, 5, 9, 10, 14 and 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fershtut, as applied above.

Regarding claim 2, the inorganic salts are well known to use with cement (for example, calcium chloride is a well known cement accelerator). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used one or more of these inorganic salts with Fershtut in order to obtain a desired structural characteristic.

Regarding the limitation of repairing the holes to match the appearance of the slab, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have repaired the holes of Fershtut in this manner in order to increase safety, reduce noise in vehicles traveling over the slab or for aesthetic purposes, for example.

The slab is concrete.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
